2003 Candidates Online by Office and Jurisdiction

Olympia-The Public Disclosure Commission web site allows the public a quick and easy way to find out who is running for office in the 2003 election by the office they are seeking and/or the jurisdiction they wish to represent.

There are 2,842 declared candidates running for elective office in 2003 who are required to file reports with the Public Disclosure Commission. Campaign finance reports are required by 1,615 candidates and the remain 1,227 candidates are only required to file Statements of Personal Financial Affairs. All of the information submitted by the candidates and their campaign is available for public inspection either on the Internet or by contacting the Commission office in Olympia.

Access to who is running for what public office by jurisdiction and election year is as easy as going to the PDC web site at www.pdc.wa.gov select Search Database and look under Candidates Registered by Election Year.
